THE CREATIVITY BAR Raisins The Gandhian Engineering award gets over 1,500 entries from students from all over the world every year, and the top 10 are chosen. Some students feel that this process is not fair and that the award should be given to a single winner.

Some students are working on projects that are not related to the award. These students are sometimes criticized for not participating in the award process. However, they believe that their work is important and that they should be recognized for it.

Making a commercial product is not the aim of all students. Some students are working on projects that are not related to the award. These students are sometimes criticized for not participating in the award process. However, they believe that their work is important and that they should be recognized for it.

Some students are working on projects that are not related to the award. These students are sometimes criticized for not participating in the award process. However, they believe that their work is important and that they should be recognized for it.